"Experience is the number one hiring factor these days, and in a tight economy, the more experience you have, the more successful your job search will be. Fastenal offers students the opportunity to connect their academics to a business environment, allowing them to extend their classroom learning to the field. Their part-time positions seem to offer our students an opportunity to be trained in many aspects of the business, preparing them to truly lead when they go full-time. Our students love the flexible hours and excellent training, and we look forward to having Fastenal on campus each semester."

"Over the past 3 years Fastenal has participated in recruiting events at our Johnson & Wales University campuses in Charlotte, Denver, North Miami and Providence. They have hired our students for internships, part-time and full-time employment and worked with our DECA student organization. Through this endeavor our students are being exposed to an industry that impacts most businesses today in some way. We value our relationship with Fastenal and look forward to continuing our successful partnership."
