

MJC Online Course Review Process

Online courses have on average 10% lower student success across all disciplines. To enhance the teaching and learning experience and help promote student success, MJC uses this process to assign online and hybrid courses to instructors who have not previously taught online.

In the event that a course needs further revision before being assigned to the class schedule, the Dean and Instructional Designer will work in cooperation with the faculty member to create an action plan.*